The fastest growing medium for promoting any business has become the Internet. Businesses can no longer rely solely on traditional advertising such as the yellow pages for their customers to find them. More and more, computer savvy customers turn to their PC to find businesses to provide them services or purchase products.

Do not lose customers because your competition has a web site and your business does not. Bill Norton Creative is ready to help you meet the challenge of developing a presence on the Internet.

Bill Norton Creative provides a wide range of web hosting and site development services. Our speciality is helping small businesses that want a web presence, but don't have a big budget to get it done. We can even tailor a package that fits the smallest of budgets. Being on the internet does not have to cost thousands of dollars.

Our specialty is providing turn-key solutions that can give you the web presence you need, but without the hassle of trying to set-up and develop a site of your own. Instead, you can focus on growing your business. We have a commitment to providing your business great customer service and develop a product that meets your needs. Our goal is to be your business partner!

Here are the things we can offer as part of our web services.
